

Quiz: Living with diabetes

People have known about diabetes for thousands of years. What year would you have first been given these doctor's orders?

Choose from the following dates:

600BC      150      1674      1798      1870      1922      1966      1990

"Have a taste of your urine. If you have diabetes it will taste a bit like honey"
"You can have some humulin - human insulin created by genetically engineered E. Coli"
"You should eat as little as possible. In fact on some days you shouldn't eat at all."
"You are now on the waiting list for pancreatic islet transplantation. The part of the pancreas that produces insulin will be attached to your liver."
"You can have an injection of insulin taken from a cow to stop the worst symptoms."
"Check to see if ants and other insects are attracted to your sugary urine."
"You are to be offered a pancreas transplant. You will keep your old one in place and have a new one attached."
"Go on a strict diet and eat as much fatty and rancid old meat that you can find. Blood puddings are also a good idea."
"Grind up a mixture of acorn, copper, wild pomegranate flower and make a drink with rose water."	