

General Discussion Questions on Identity

In what ways do family, culture, or community shape the character's identity?

How does conflict (internal or external) force characters to confront who they are?

What role does memory or personal history play in the shaping of identity?

To what extent is identity portrayed as a choice versus something imposed?

Did you see aspects of your own identity reflected in the text? How?

How do the struggles with identity in the text mirror struggles we see in society today?