

General Discussion Questions on Hope

Which characters embody hope the most? How does the author show this through their actions or dialogue?

How does the setting influence the presence or absence of hope?

Do characters experience a moment where hope almost disappears? What brings it back—or doesn't?

Are there moments when hope becomes a form of resistance?

Does the text suggest that hope is personal or collective?

Do you think the author wants readers to leave with a sense of hope? Explain your reasoning.